Rath Chair in Strategic Management, University of Oklahoma

Executive Consultant & Board Advisor

Where strategy meets behavioral science.

I work with senior leaders — CEOs, C-suite executives, and founders — who carry the weight of decisions few others understand. When the stakes are high and clarity is scarce, I help them align psychology and strategy to lead with conviction.

My approach combines the discipline of science with the realities of strategy, translating research on executive psychology into practical tools leaders can rely on when the pressure is real.

I help leaders think cleaner, decide better, and perform under pressure.
